On that list I found a man born in February 1920 who "registered" and "voted" by mail in Michigan.

"But Tom, what if it's just someone with the same name and same birth month but isn't 100 years old?"

Lemme know if you guys can find him.

His name is ADOLPH Joswiak.

Trump statement via the campaign: "I will never give up fighting for you and our nation."

TRUMP PENCE
MAKE AMERICA GREAT AGAIN!

- November 6, 2020 -

Statement of President Donald J. Trump

"We believe the American people deserve to have full transparency into all vote counting and election certification, and that this is no longer about any single election. This is about the integrity of our entire election process. From the beginning we have said that all legal ballots must be counted and all illegal ballots should not be counted, yet we have met resistance to this basic principle by Democrats at every turn. We will pursue this process through every aspect of the law to guarantee that the American people have confidence in our government. I will never give up fighting for you and our nation."

Direct death threats don't violate Facebook's "community standards," yet people are routinely banned for expressing opinions.

Incredible.

Hey you mother fucker you keep mocking allahu and sweet islam I fucking find and kill you You stupid mother fucker you better stop what you are doing or else you find your very life to become very unbearable with my existence when I come for you

Note that not one mainstream media outlet - which are normally obsessed with anything Facebook does - reported on Facebook literally issuing a policy update (later rescinded) that allowed for violent death threats to be posted.

Almost like the they have an agenda.

Libertarianism is a cringe irrelevancy that died 6 years ago.

Michael F. Cannon @mfcannon

If everyone who voted Republican instead voted Libertarian, Biden would have lost, and our next president would be a free-trade, tax-cutting, government shrinking, 2nd Amendment protecting WOMAN

CNN & other networks trying to boost Biden's legitimacy by claiming fireworks in London and church bells in Paris were celebrating a Biden win.

Truth;

It's Bonfire Night weekend in the UK & the church in Paris released a statement saying the bells had nothing to do with Biden.

The funniest thing about the election allegations is that Democrats are having two conflicting thoughts:

1. There's no way the election had enough fraud to overturn the result. Go Biden! Woo-hoo!

and...

2. Wait. Republicans are actually checking? Oh, shit.

All the "conservatives" in both the UK and the US who have conceded should never be trusted again.

They're all fake grifters who have identified themselves as cucks.

They're now all on a list.

Fuck these inauthentic bastards.

Matt Drudge abandoned Trump because they stopped him having access to the White House.

I get that he would be upset by that, but to change his entire political outlook because he was temporarily butt hurt is stupid.

He chose the path of narcissism at the cost of the country.

I met him years ago and he impressed me greatly.

But now he's a fucking bitch who abandoned Trump and is such a pussy, he's afraid of even replying to this tweet.

Fuck Matt Drudge and fuck Fox News.

If he is elected, Joe Biden has promised to shut down the country again should 'experts' recommend him to do so, and that is exactly what one of Biden's 'scientific' advisors is asking for.

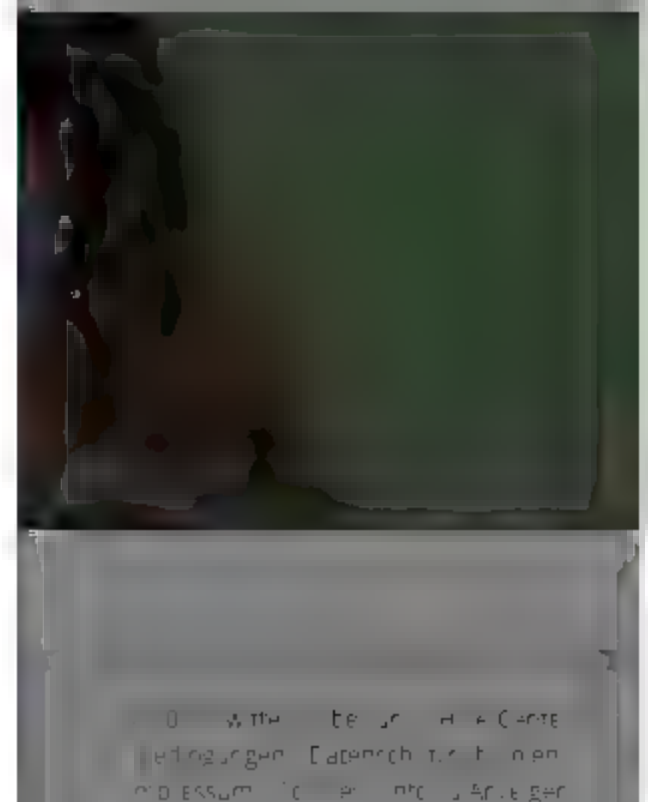
BREAKING: Pennsylvania.

Judge orders segregated ballots should not be counted. It rules the PA Secretary of State "lacked statutory authority" to override election law. Critically, the state has a Republican state legislature.



#SCOTUS may ultimately decide the case now.

Court concludes that Respondent Kathy Boockvar, in her official capacity as Secretary of the Commonwealth, lacked statutory authority[1] to issue the November 1, 2020, guidance to Respondents County Boards of Elections insofar as that guidance purported to change the deadline in Section 1308(h) of the Pennsylvania Election Code, Act of June 3, 1937, P.L. 1333, as amended, 25 P.S. §3146.8(h), for certain electors to verify proof of identification, based on Secretary Boockvar's interpretation and application of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's decision in Pennsylvania Democratic Party v. Boockvar, __ A.3d __ (Pa., No. 133 MM 2020, filed September 17, 2020).[2]

Accordingly, the Court hereby ORDERS that Respondents County Boards of Elections are enjoined from counting any ballots that have been segregated pursuant to paragraph 1 of this Court's order dated November 5, 2020, granting a special injunction.

Soros didn't disagree

"I fancied myself as some kind of god," he once wrote. "It must be known, I carried some rather potent messianic fantasies with me from childhood, which I felt I had to confront, otherwise they might get me in trouble."

Another time, he told Britain's Independent newspaper: "It is a sort of disease when you consider yourself some kind of god, the creator of everything, but I feel comfortable about it now since I began to live it out."

An Antifa group has revealed they will be present at the pro-gun rally in Virginia on Monday.

Virginia Governor Ralph Northam has issued an executive order banning all guns at the event.

Some pro-gun protesters say they will bring them anyway.

Stay safe everyone.

Georgia recount worker with 20 years of experience handling ballots described an odd batch that stood out. Pristine sheets with no markings and 98% for Biden.

Source:
courtlistener.com/docket/1863278 ...

14. Most of the ballots had already been handled, they had been written on by people, and the edges were worn. They showed obvious use. However, one batch stood out. It was pristine. There was a difference in the texture of the paper – it was if they were intended for absentee use but had not been used for that purposes. There was a difference in the feel.

15. These different ballots included a slight depressed pre-fold so they could be easily folded and unfolded for use in the scanning machines. There were no markings on the ballots to show where they had come from, or where they had been processed. These stood out.

16. In my 20 years' of experience of handling ballots, I observed that the markings for the candidates on these ballots were unusually uniform, perhaps even with a ballot-marking device. By my estimate in observing these ballots, approximately 98% constituted votes for Joseph Biden. I only

The Gell-Mann Amnesia effect.

I often receive emails from parents in despair at how their children's schools have taken it upon themselves to uncritically regurgitate Number 10's propaganda and start publishing out of their own arse. There's something rather odd about this, given that teachers are usually so suspicious of anything the Government says, particularly if they know something about the subject e.g. education policy. Aren't these the very people that pride themselves on equipping their students with critical thinking skills. Why the willingness to lap up everything they're told about "the crisis" by politicians they wouldn't dream of voting for?

One theory is that it's an instance of Gell-Mann Amnesia, a phenomenon identified by the physicist Murray Gell-Mann, which his friend the novelist Michael Crichton described as follows.

> Briefly stated, the Gell-Mann Amnesia effect is as follows. You open the newspaper to an article on some subject you know well. In Murray's case, physics. In mine, show business. You read the article and see the journalist has absolutely no understanding of either the facts or the issues. Often, the article is so wrong it actually presents the story backwards—reversing cause and effect. I call these the "wet streets cause rain" stories. Papers are full of them.
> In any case, you read with exasperation or amusement the multiple errors in a story, and then turn the page to national or international affairs, and read as if the rest of the newspaper was somehow more accurate about Palestine than the baloney you just read. You turn the page, and forget what you know.

Men who wear dresses have been flooding my Instagram with videos proving that a man's desire to wear women's garments is not indicative of mental instability.

Their feedback is more stunning, brave, and important than I could have ever imagined.

A leaked plan on COVID-19 vaccinations in England has been published by @SkyNews.

The crucial bit is "The HSJ claims the plan allows for everyone who wants a vaccine to have had one by early April."

Source: news.sky.com/story/covid-li ...

being vaccinated against COVID-19 by the end of January, it has been reported.

According to the Health Service Journal (HSJ), who claims to have seen the plan, care home residents, staff and other healthcare workers will start getting their jabs in early December

And those aged between 18 and 50 – the lowest priority group – will start getting theirs in late January

The HSJ claims the plan allows for everyone who wants a vaccine to have had one by early April

The journal says the NHS is working on this timeline:

Watching the same media people who spent 4 years claiming the Kremlin had infiltrated and taken over the US now sanctimoniously mock conspiracy theories is exactly like watching Gavin "Dinner Party" Newsome and Nancy "Salon" Pelosi lecture & scorn people for COVID violations.

> Michael Tracey @mtracey
> Widespread media refusal to reckon with just how damaging their conduct was over the course of the Trump/Russia saga is the direct precursor to what we're seeing now — and the further refusal to acknowledge that connection is adding to the overall delusion

Just like the Democratic Party refused any reasonable critique after their defeat in 2016, the US media loves to complain that people don't trust them and turn instead to Fake News, but never ask whether their own behavior is a cause for why that's happening.

My dad died today in a nursing home.

He was tested for Covid 3 times over the last 3 weeks.

He was negative every time yet we are told Covid will be on his death certificate as the primary cause.

Can anybody explain this to me?

QAnon is and always has been a stupid distraction and a dead end.

Why do you think the legacy media endlessly hypes it up?

Maybe this will finally bring the whole charade to an end.

I'm not a conspiracy theorist, nor am I a COVID denier, but people like this make it difficult not to believe that lockdowns are more about social engineering than they are about stopping the virus. A vaccine is not a "complement" to being isolated and muzzled like an animal.

Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus @DrTedros

Since the beginning of the #COVID19 pandemic we knew that a vaccine would be essential for bringing the pandemic under control. But it's important to emphasise that a vaccine will complement the other tools we have, not replace them. #EB147 #ACTogether

Friend got a taxi to work today.

Driver broke down over latest lockdown. Yesterday worked 14 hrs for £15. Last week made £70. He's 5 months in mortgage arrears. Kids go to school w/ bread & beetroot sandwiches. Has sold car, tv & most furniture. Kids sit on deck chairs at home.

Biden's nominee for Secretary of State is a "born internationalist" who called Brexit a "total mess" & pushed for even greater intervention in Syria - a policy that put weapons in the hands of jihadists, fueled the rise of ISIS, the migrant crisis & global terrorism.

Good luck.

Blinken also supported the 2003 invasion of Iraq.

He literally supported every disastrous military intervention of the last 2 decades and now he's going to be in charge of foreign policy.

This is literally what Schwab gushes over in his Great Reset book.

Everyone is technically "self-employed" but actually totally dependent on giant transnationals like Amazon.

They get paid peanuts & have zero worker protections or benefits.

The technocrats really care for us!

Fields & old military bases are filling up with taxis apparently. A friend spent over £100k to become an air traffic controller, he's now delivering for Amazon. Did you know they have to bid for their job each morning? If he bids 50p per parcel, and someone else bids 49p...he doesn't work...ridiculous eh?

Pubs where you can stand at the bar & drink a pint of frothy ale & feast on nothing more than basic bar snacks are part of Britain's historic & social fabric. These are the truly Great British pubs.
Today @BorisJohnson deemed them dispensable & confined them to the Covid dustbin.

The @RealCandaceO lawsuit is a "win-win": Either "fact-checkers" are deemed "opinions" not susceptible of defamation, in which case platforms won't be able to demonetize based on "fact checks". Or it's deemed to be a factual statement, supporting defamation/tortious interference.

Parler's CEO on reported hack: "The alleged 'hack' is a screenshot from a WordPress website that has been circulated repeatedly over the past 6 months, despite Parler's multiple responses that we do not use WordPress products, nor WordPress databases." Also calls out Twitter

From John Matze, CEO and founder of Parler

"The alleged "hack" is a screenshot from a WordPress website that has been circulated repeatedly over the past 6 months, despite Parler s multiple responses that we do not use WordPress products, nor WordPress databases

"All of our databases are hidden behind multiple layers of security and are not accessible via the web. This is an irresponsible rumor which uses a "techie" looking WordPress config file which is only capable of confusing a journalistic hack, not an actual hacker

"If Twitter continues to fact check others, they should also fact check posts such as these that spread viral misinformation."

Hospital visit.

When I got to triage, I had a most interesting conversation with the nurse. She said they still were not particularly busy and she was very concerned about the increases in certain types of cases. Domestic abuse was the example she gave, and subsequently when I was waiting for X-ray, an extremely distressed and beaten-up woman appeared, who was telling the paramedic how frightened she was that the "guy who did this might have decided to finish the job" if the emergency services had not been so quick.

The triage nurse went on to tell me that the first lockdown had been "lovely from a work point of view, nothing to do and lots of free food". Apparently, if they were on shift and rang for a pizza, the companies just delivered to the hospital for free. She particularly mentioned Domino's. The nurse said that this region had never been in any danger of being overwhelmed, and was now beginning to worry that there would be a backlash against 'Protecting the NHS' when they could clearly cope and the lockdown continue to lose people their jobs, etc.

Hi Paul, I am very Liberal. I live in New Zealand & voted for our most left wing party

Do you know what I hate more than anything? I despise it when people sprint full speed, head first into a concrete wall.

I would feel so utterly owned if anyone did that & posted the video.

People say it was a tragedy that Diego Maradona died before his time aged 60.

But if he had lived to 90, he wouldn't have had a troubled life, would have been boring, and therefore wouldn't have been Diego Maradona.

Anyone throughout history who challenged ruling authorities or had anything interesting to say was viciously censored.

We shouldn't be surprised that this trend is still alive and well today.

This is the human condition.

Amazing coincidence how the vast majority of people who were historically censored and defamed by the ruling authorities at the time turned out to be telling the truth.

The 'killing granny' type replies are just... sigh

Here's my position: elderly people should get a say in this.

If my grandparents decide a big family Christmas is worth the Covid risk, that should be their choice to make.

Not mine. Not yours. Not the government's.

Picture this: you are 82. You have moderate dementia which is in fairly fast decline. Right now you know your loved ones, and you have capacity to make decisions. In 12 months time this may not be the case.

Is it unreasonable for covid NOT to be the biggest concern for you?

Why is there a 2 tier policing system in the UK that treats lockdown protesters like criminals while literally kneeling and bowing for Black Lives Matter?

Weeks ago, censored a post of mine which truthfully stated that is NOT the President-elect.
So I got lawyers involved.
Conclusion? Fact uncensored the post & admitted that they LIED by rating my post false.
The fact-checkers are lying for Democrats.

> Correction: PolitiFact originally labeled this video false in our capacity as a third-party fact-checker for Facebook. On Nov. 20, an appeal to that decision was made on behalf of Ms. Owens. PolitiFact approved the appeal on Nov. 20, determined that a correction was appropriate, and removed the false rating.

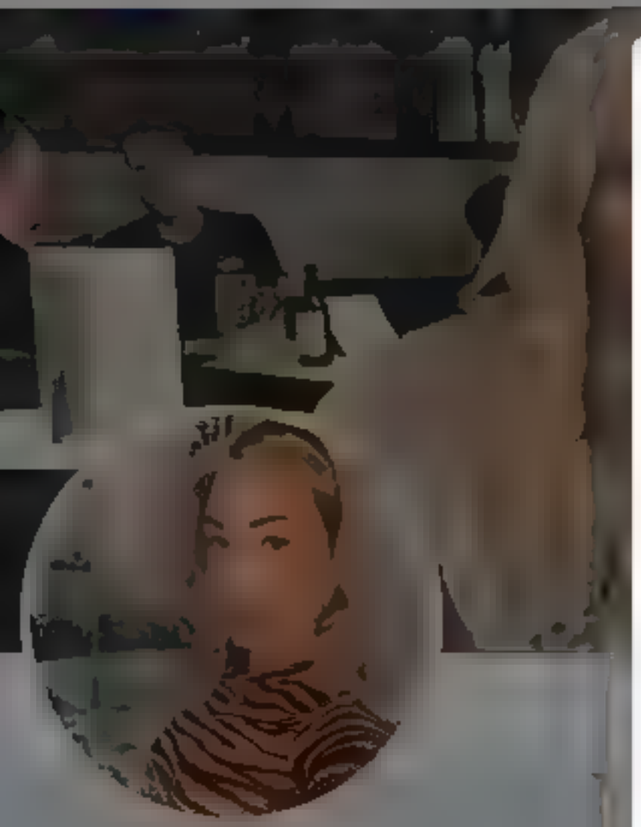
Walmart is getting nice headlines for giving employees $150-$300 bonuses.



The bonus cost equals:
*2.5% of Walmart's pandemic profit
*0.9% of Walton family's pandemic wealth gains

We're conditioned to expect so little that many will see this as progress.

In an article on the COVID vaccine rollout, CNN says that Americans shouldn't be alarmed if people start dying after taking the vaccine because "deaths may occur that won't necessarily have anything to do with the vaccine."

Or it could have something to do with BLM desecrating war memorials, burning Union Jacks, attacking police & tearing down statues.

Just a hunch.

A Turkish couple living in Germany had a role in developing the vaccine.

This obviously means we need to eliminate all border controls and let all of Africa & the Middle East in.

Makes perfect sense to me.

YouTube's reasoning for the new policy is essentially 'you are not allowed to criticize the government'

Official Blog

Yesterday was the safe harbor deadline for the U.S. presidential election and enough states have certified their election results to determine a President-elect. Given ha e 2020 U.S. Presidential election. For example, we will remove videos claiming that a Presidential candidate won the election due to widespread software glitches or counting errors. We will begin enforcing this policy today and will ramp up in the weeks to come. As always, news coverage and commentary on these issues can remain on our site if there's sufficient educational, documentary, scientific or artistic context.

This is a video game review > can create a dude with a vagina or a lady with a penis, that's no problem. But because of everything else about how the game handles trans identity, this hardly feels like the progressive step it should be. Rather than just letting you pick your pronouns independently of all your other character creation choices, your pronouns are assigned based on your selection of voice: Pick the "feminine" voice and your pronouns are she/her, and vice versa. (There are no nonbinary pronoun options.) As a trans woman

The media whipped up a 'racism' outrage because a match official referred to a black guy as a "black guy."

To identify him because all the other coaches around him were white.

Now the football world is apparently 'reeling' from this horror.

Ludicrous.

Appearing on CNN Thursday, Dr Anthony Fauci declared that face masks are here to stay unless enough Americans get the coronavirus vaccination, and even then it will take at least six months before the masks can be left behind.

The notion that conservatives are at all bothered by Malia Obama having opinions or drinking wine is another fake narrative, just like the claim anyone was bothered by AOC dancing. Apart from a handful of incels on Twitter, no one cared.

Imagine getting paid to harass people in pubs.

A reader has sent an alarming email about an experience he had in a pub in Watford earlier this week.

> Last night the local pub I was in was visited by two goons only one of which was wearing a hi viz Covid Marshall jacket. The other was dressed head to toe in black with a huge neck and no. You could only see his eyes. He must have been well over 6ft tall and built like a brick shithouse. He was obviously trying to intimidate everybody but didn't have much success around the people I was near to. A couple of cheeky 'f off's' which they both chose to ignore let them know how welcome they were.
> The pub is struggling as it is but these actions are going to kill the place completely. They took the [illegible] out then would be back in after a while and the people drinking out either left. Presumably an empty pub would have suited them just fine. Then they left and started taking pictures of the customers through the pub windows.
> Do not know if this is even legal. As far as I can tell Covid Marshalls don't have any powers at all.
> I needn't point out that they stood very close to each other and approached the bar something that nobody else is allowed to do.
> This is [illegible] happening to our country.

Some airlines now mandating not just masks, but full face visors and gloves for passengers.

Lockdown Sceptic readers Millicent and Nigel have written us a postcard from their terrifying trip to the Maldives, where everyone must wear during every night to keep them safe.

Our journey to the Maldives began with sufficient Covid safe measures in place. Heathrow was a Covid friendly delight with strict social distancing and mask wearing enforced. We were confronted on our airline mandating full face visors over our masks alongside gloves for all passengers. Prior to boarding all passengers, supposedly [illegible] a great deal of drivers being in the midst of menopause. Mercifully, [illegible] and it was relieved to see all stewards sensibly dressed in outfits suitable for a modern operating theatre.

However I did nearly withdraw my carbon offset payment when I noticed a fellow passenger removing his visor and sigh. He was over inside his own cabin in business class but Nigel and I felt nervous at the sight of [illegible] passengers.

Because as this is happening, there is NO alarm ringing on the BBC, in parliament or even courts.

So @BorisJohnson said there would be no further lockdowns without a Parliamentary vote.
Tier 4 is a lockdown.
Yet no vote.
This not a democracy anymore.
It's full on tyranny.

So this new strain of corona means someone living in London is banned from traveling 50 miles to see their granny in Brighton.

But people from all over the world can fly in, get infected, then export it to every corner of the globe because our borders are still wide open.

Wow. Makes you wonder just how America got through those years.

Consider the following figures [illegible] deaths broken down per year.

2013: 2,596,993

2014: 2,626,418

2015: 2,712,630

2016: [illegible]

2017: 2,813,503

2018: 2,839,205

2019: 2,855,000

At present, the US is experiencing a 1.3% increase in overall mortality rates for 2020 [illegible] pandemic numbers to be sure.

However, last year 2019 there was also a 1.3% increase. Did we miss a pandemic in 2019?

But wait, it gets crazier. Add the 2.2% increase in mortality rates 2018 saw a 1.4% increase 2017 a 2.2% increase, 2016 a 1.9% increase, and an average 40% increase in mortality rate, so does this mean we have had pandemics for the last seven years?

March: The mere suggestion of temporarily banning Chinese people from entering the UK to stop the spread of COVID is horribly racist.

Also, don't you dare call it the "China virus."

December: UK now known as "plague island," Brits banned from entering dozens of countries.

Every single lockdown and tier system and circuit breaker imposed so far — in all four nations — has had zero impact on the spread of the virus. It finds a way to infect people, willy nilly. It mocks our attempts to control it. So in what universe is another lockdown a good idea?

Fascinating correlation between the Christmas season (peace, love and joy), and the number of death threats I've received over the last week.

Why do the "good, progressive, beneficent people" always venerate ugliness?

A far-right architecture obsession just became a Trump executive order -- and Tucker Carlson was the middleman

In 2017 InfoWars personality Paul Joseph Watson released a video titled "Why Modern Architecture Sucks." The video takes much the same tone as Carlson's segment, describing modern architectural styles as visual representations of submissiveness to authority, blaming post-World War II radical architects, attacking abstract artists and accusing modern architecture of defying gravities. Watson and Carlson both describe society's choice of architecture and aesthetic as directly relational to societal values.

National hospital bed occupancy is currently 85%. A figure that has been pretty stable for three months.
By contrast, bed occupancy for this quarter last year was 92%.
In fact, winter 2020 is the lowest hospital bed occupancy for 10 years.

Londoners celebrated Christmas in 1940 in the middle of the fucking blitz.

Now in 2020 it's cancelled because of a situation that has left hospital beds EMPTIER than this time last year.

Why?

11 21 17 Dec

SHARED English hospitals emptier than this time last year

Nick Triggle
Health Correspondent

The latest hospital occupancy data has been published in England. It shows in the week ending 13 December 89% of beds were occupied, leaving 10 500 empty beds.

That means hospitals were actually busier this time last year when 95% of beds were occupied.

Reading about the Nazi occupation of the Channel Islands... Sound familiar? 😬

> The maid announced the men's arrival. Two officers, draped in dark green, introduced themselves and told Dame Sibyl that they had come to establish some rules. There would be a curfew at 11 p.m.; no groups larger than five were allowed in the streets; all pubs were to be closed; all arms were to be confiscated; and no boats were allowed to leave the harbor.

At the hospital again as my wife probably needs another blood transfusion.

We had to go to A&E today as all the regular services are on holiday until next week.

FWIW, there is literally nobody else here other than us. Every bed is empty.

REMEMBER THE LOCKDOWN RULES:

1. If death rates go down, that means the lockdown is working

2. If death rates go up, that means they would have gone up far more without the lockdown

3. Whatever happens after the lockdown ends, the answer is ALWAYS going to be another lockdown

Boris to announce yet another national lockdown.

Flights will continue to land from China & every other country.

Boat migrants will continue to be welcomed to UK.

Pubs closed, de facto house arrest, but borders stay wide open.

The woman who was killed—who was she? Was she a Trumpster, or Antifa posing as a Trumpster? What threat did she pose? Why was she shot and killed, and by whom? So far there seems to be very little media reporting or even curiosity about these obvious and germane questions

Remember when Trump had to get whisked off to an underground bunker because BLM "protestors" tried to storm the White House, threw bricks and bottles at police, and set stuff on fire, including the St. John's Church?

A snap YouGov poll just found more Republicans in favor of the Capitol Building being stormed than opposed to it.

A majority of Democrats approved of the burning down of a Minneapolis police station this past summer; now Republicans show the same contempt for the rule of law.

The "IF this was BLM, everyone would have been shot" narrative is complete nonsense.

We don't need to talk in hypotheticals. It WAS BLM this summer. Businesses were looted and people were attacked. Cops didn't shoot and kill them.

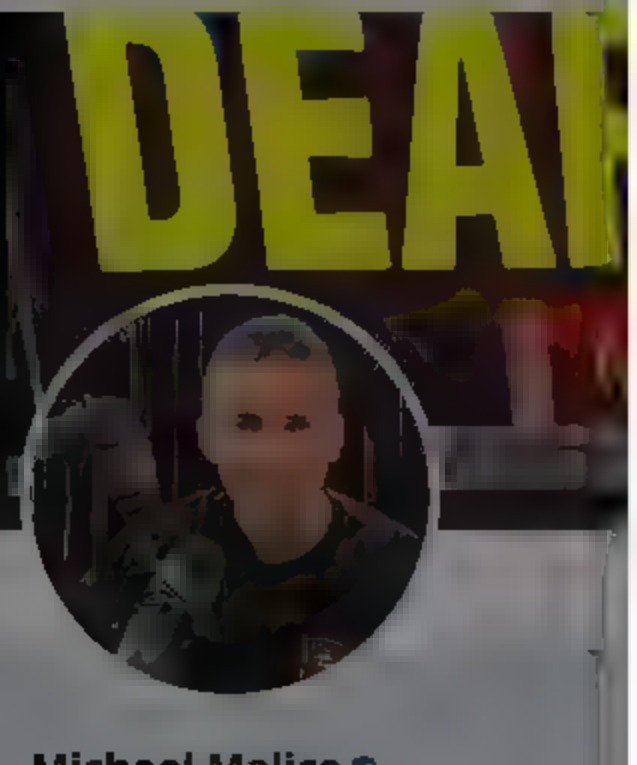
(2) For anyone arguing the summer rioters picked low-profile targets they set an active police precinct the Minneapolis 3rd on fire with the cops in it. The "national church," St John's across from the WH, was literally attacked and damaged at one point. The list goes on

8 36 258



Wilfred Reilly @w da beast630 · Jan 6

(3) Of course ALL rioting is bad, and people found to have been actually violent during a riot should ALL be arrested and severely punished right?

Whatever you think of what happened yesterday, to compare it to Pearl Harbor & 9/11, tragedies which killed over 5,000 people, is clearly demented and a cynical grifter ploy to milk the chaos for political gain.

Anyone doing that is infinitely WORSE than those they decry.

A couple dozen Trump supporters mob the capitol building and the mainstream media calls it an "insurrection". When racist malcontents and militant communists spent a month burning down cities across America they called it peaceful protest. This is why we can't have nice things.

They are creating a monopoly. They want NO IDEAS or CONVERSATIONS that they are not able to control.

They do not want conservatives communicating with one another.

The most powerful corporations in the world banded together to silence an elected president.

No election empowered them to do that. No constitution granted them that authority.

But tell me more about the great MAGA threat to democracy.

Social media censorship and silencing/cancelling people has been happening for 3+ years.

The only effect it has had is to make people more "extreme".

That's precisely what they want.

They don't want us to talk.

They don't want us to come together.

They want power & control.

Bench arrest video 'stage-managed by anti-lockdown protestors'

46 mins ago Dorset

A video shared online apparently showing a woman being arrested in breach of Covid rules for sitting on a bench was "stage-managed", police said.

Dorset Police believe the video was planned and recorded by anti-lockdown protestors during a demonstration in Bournemouth on Saturday.

The NYT completely made up a story about journalist @RichieMcGinniss based on an out-of-context photograph.

Geoffrey Ingersoll @GeoffIngersoll
Look at this caption. He was literally pointing at his phone that he dropped in the mere, it had all his work on it from the day

Twenty years ago the idea of a #NoFlyList was un-American. Then 9/11 happened and Bush started one. Obama made it permanent. Biden will make it cool.

Can someone create a compilation of people getting kicked off an airplane because they are on the #NoFlyList . I don't want to search them one by one and I could really use a laugh.

Twitter stock is down because they ensured that every country outside the US is going to severely regulate or replace them.

Imagine the UK allowing an ideological San Francisco company to control the BBC. Will India be ok with Twitter having authority to de-platform Modi?

Seeing tweets from Americans who are 'going to bed because they're 'tired' … I'm 6 hours ahead of you all and I'm still going.

I care more about your country than you do.

- One in three cancer patients says their treatment has been affected and 40% say their mental health has suffered in consequence. Cancer Research UK says cancer screening was cancelled for three million people and there has been a 40% drop in the seven key diagnostic tests for cancer between March and July – equivalent to 1.2m fewer tests in England alone.
- British Heart Foundation says that excess heart disease deaths rose with a disturbing 13% rise amongst those under 60 once as Covid was declining in May and June. We believe that delays in people seeking care, coupled with a reduced access to routine tests and treatments during the pandemic, have likely contributed to the rise in excess deaths.
- A separate poll has revealed that seven in 10 people in the UK have now seriously worried about the mental health of themselves or someone close. Problem drinking is a killer that is higher and now affects around 9 million people. Experts report that suicide amongst young people is rising. Rising domestic abuse during the Spring lockdown offences rose by 18,000 between March and June 2020 (ONS, Jan 2021).
- Bristol University's sick experts say that the lockdowns of 2020 will cost 560,000 lives in the UK "because of the deep and prolonged recession they will cause." The government's own predictions say it will be another 200,000 will die as a result of the first lockdown alone (ONS, July 2020). It has refused to provide an update showing the additional impact of the tiers and lockdowns since.
- Government figures show that even during the Spring peak, restrictions played a huge role in excess deaths. Covid killed 23,000 people but restrictions caused at least 6,000 unnecessary deaths, as 6,000 people died because they didn't attend A&E through fear and 3,000 people died in care homes because they could not access treatment in hospital (ONS, August 2020).
- The UN World Food Programme has warned that 270,000,000 people face starvation as a result of the global impact of lockdowns and restrictions. This alone makes the response to Covid the single most lethal policy that Governments have ever adopted, potentially killing many times more than Mao, Stalin and Hitler combined.

If you're in the national press and will be on TV at any point today and being to feel the need to weep joyously, just hold it in until you find a private place. Nobody is expecting any adversarial coverage over the next 4 years, but it's just a matter of personal dignity.

Joe Biden's promise to be transparent is off to a bad start.

It appears his transition website is no more. It now redirects to the WH website.

This wipes press releases, agency review teams, & an accounting of transition donors.

I've accepted I'll have to keep saying this until I die and I'm at peace with that:

Censorship is never directed only to right or the left. It's for anything deemed threatening dissent an impediment to ruling class pieties.

Only conformity & benign opposition are permitted.

Biden Admin has cleaned house immediately upon entering office. Anyone with even a hint of loyalty to the past admin has been fired. Trump Admin came to DC without understanding what they were up against. They kept Obama people around, sometimes for 4 years. Personnel is policy.

Larry King was a hero of mine until we fell out after I replaced him at CNN & he said my show was 'like watching your mother-in-law go over a cliff in your new Bentley.' (He married 8 times so a mother-in-law expert) But he was a brilliant broadcaster & masterful TV interviewer.

I'm gonna explain how this happened. She and I are friends from like 15 years ago. Only communicate casually, but she's asked me political questions in the past cause she knows I'm really into politics. Jeremy is her husband (I've never met him). They live out west, SD I think.

Miley Cyrus is being called a transphobe for stating that she thinks breasts are more attractive than balls.

No I am not joking.

The singer's comments about genitals and gender preferences are a little too similar to TERF talking points

BY NEW [illegible]
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 2021 [illegible]

Miley Cyrus is making waves with new comments about her [illegible]

The singer continued: "It's good if it can just get in and go away, because I don't want it eyeing me up. That's how I truly feel. I felt really good about saying that."

She dug it even deeper, adding, "everyone knows that tits are prettier than balls. That's what ended up making female relationships make more sense to me."

I wish I could say this news makes me excited and proud to be a woman and a lesbian, but Cyrus' quote is littered with transphobia. This kind of gender essentialism was left behind by most of the queer community years ago. Genitals do not equate gender and Miley should know this.

In an age where TERFS are more vocal than they've ever been comments like these reinforce some very dangerous ideas about bodies and gender. Having a gender preference, or even genitalia preference, in who you sleep with is obviously not a problem, but to reduce dicks and balls to 'men's bodies' contributes to dangerous beliefs about trans women.

REMINDER: Wall Street hedge funds running to the exchanges to halt trading to prevent losses is another example of why the game has always been rigged in favor of the elites.

When you lose it is okay, but when they lose the game is turned off.

Discord just caved to media pressure that falsely accused WallStreetBets of being "white nationalists" and banned the whole server. Pathetic.

Full statement from Discord. It claims that the server breached the Trust & Safety team's "radar" by posting "hate speech" and "glorifying violence" and "spreading misinformation."

The server wasn't on anyone's radar until the media put out false reports about its users today.

The server has been on our Trust & Safety team's radar for some time due to occasional content that violates our Community Guidelines, including hate speech, glorifying violence, and spreading misinformation. Over the past few months, we have issued multiple warnings to the server admin.

Today, we decided to remove the server and its owner from Discord for continuing to allow hateful and discriminatory content after repeated warnings.

To be clear, we did not ban this server due to financial fraud related to GameStop or other stocks. Discord welcomes a broad variety of personal finance discussions, from investment clubs and day traders to college students and professional financial advisors. We are monitoring this situation and, in the event there are allegations of illegal activities, we will cooperate with authorities as appropriate.

Real issue with GameStop is realizing how much the elite are hated. They have no idea, and their media emissaries who defend them (and now try to smear all the Robinhood users as neo-Nazis) are even more hated.

If I were the elite, I'd be working on solving these issues!

When I was a kid I discovered shortcuts in Mario Kart 64 and always beat my brother. One day he discovered them too, and then I didn't want to play anymore. That's what's happening with banking right now; we learned their tricks and they don't want to play now that it's fair.

Yeah, it works great for Wall Street & hedge fund billionaires.

Great precedent you've created there.

A Theory of The Young Girl which sketched an outline of the emergent citizen of Western democratic societies, who willingly participates in and perpetuates their own oppression at the hands of global corporate governance, actively consenting to the molecular diffusion of constraint into everyday life and to the continual re-armament of bodies.

The Tiqqun text summarized this acquiescent citizen as the 'Young-Girl'. The description was met with objections for its alleged misogyny. But it applies to men as well as to women, and to the old as well as to the young, only seeking to capture the defining characteristics that make the populations of western liberal-culture democracies so ripe for control.

These characteristics are compliant libidinal, entrepreneurial, and objectivation. The Young-Girl as model citizen of modern democracies is childlike, sentimental, and eminently prepared to relinquish her/his/their absolute values.

@CassandraRules

Robinhood says it will allow "limited buys" of the meme stocks tomorrow.

An update on market conditions

Hi Cassandra

It's been a tough day, and we're grateful to you for being a Robinhood customer. In light of the extraordinary market conditions this week, we temporarily limited buying for [illegible] this morning. Starting tomorrow, we plan to allow limited buys of these securities. We'll continue to monitor the situation and may make adjustments as needed.

This was a temporary decision made to best continue serving you, and was not an easy one to make. We know it's led to frustration and confusion, and wanted to provide some clarity.

[illegible] requirements, including SEC Net Capital obligations and clearinghouse deposits. Some of these requirements fluctuate based on volatility in the markets and can be substantial in the current environment. These requirements exist to protect investors and the markets, and we take our responsibilities to comply with them seriously, including through the measures we have taken today.

To be clear, this decision was not made on the direction of any market maker, we route to or other market participants.

The past year in particular has shown us that the financial markets are for everyone—not just institutional investors and hedge funds. We've seen a new generation enter the market, and they're sparking conversations about what it means to be an investor. We stand in support of you, our customers.

Democratizing finance for all means giving more

A sliver of good news.

foxbusiness.com/technology/fac

Facebook is reportedly apologizing this week after accidentally restricting the ability to share content from the Bible study website Biblehub.com.

Users posted complaints on social media and British YouTuber Paul Joseph Watson posted a controversial video titled "Facebook bans Bible passages" on Jan. 25 that garnered more than 50,000 views.

An example being, you could make the argument that the invasion of Iraq wouldn't have happened if social media had existed in 2003.

The invasion of Syria in 2013 looked inevitable but was prevented, partly I believe due to the revolt that took place on social media.

If there was a right-wing version of Gogglebox (featuring me), it would be a guaranteed ratings sensation, but no TV network would dare even consider it.

For Americans, Gogglebox is a British TV show about people watching TV and commenting on it. A more progressive version featuring a more diverse spectrum of viewpoints would be a hit.

MYTH: Trans athletes' physiological characteristics provide an unfair advantage over cis athletes.

Trans athletes vary in athletic ability just like cisgender athletes. In many states, the very same cis girls who have claimed that trans athletes have an "unfair" advantage have consistently performed as well as or better than transgender competitors.

Truly disgusting, extremist, violent rhetoric to suggest Americans who question COVID lockdowns should be treated the same as terrorists killed by drone strikes.

No place for this in a civil society.

Yet she said it and no one batted an eyelid.

10 people stabbed in South London. Presumably officers had been redirected to catch lockdown flouts rather than actual criminals.

One dead and nine injured after stabbings around Croydon, south London
Police are investigating whether the five incidents are linked and have urged anyone with information to contact them

"We live in a society of people who refuse to accept their own mortality."

We are bombarded daily with carefully crafted news reports that seem designed to induce fear and compulsory obedience to the whims of the rich and the elderly that exhort us to comply with the latest Government messages, one of which, trying to appeal to younger people is "Don't Kill Grandad." Journalists delivering these reports appear to be looking over their shoulders to avoid censure by Ofcom, who else would they never challenge the received orthodoxies of the establishment as they would if it were any other political party. Meanwhile, we are told to say what we want. These are taboo matters that cannot easily be raised in public as we live in a society of people who refuse to accept their own mortality until they might find themselves at this point and then seek that those around them would demonstrate more courage and compassion and freedom in how they care for them. A recent episode of Hospital on BBC1 featured Barnet General Hospital, which was hard especially overwhelmed by COVID-19 as Barnet has the oldest demographic in London. It was difficult viewing but watching my mum-in-law, I was fascinated to watch a lovely lady in her 80s, who had been found collapsed at the bottom of her home and had been diagnosed with a cardiac problem and COVID-19. She said directly to camera she thought it was her time, that she was dying, that she believed in God and was essentially at peace with this. The young doctor reading this patient's notes speaks to camera after noticing how peaceful she is and interprets what she has said for the viewers. "She's in a delirium." It seemed that the doctor could not accept what the patient had said and dismissed her peace of mind as being out of her mind." This patient then spent the next few weeks in an acute bed being pushed to rehabilitate to a point where they realised that she would not be able to go home and live independently and so sent her off to a nursing home where she now currently she has become a prisoner of the state like so many others without being permitted to see loved ones. They call this a success story.

Whatever the circumstances of this, what kind of demented ghoul would be saying "that's the shit I like to see" while watching somebody die?

Presumably said to increase retweets for social media clout.

Social media and its consequences have been a disaster for the human race.

I don't think this even matters at this point. Time magazine just came out said that a cabal of elites rigged the election

I'm sorry they said they didn't rig the election they "fortified" it, by changing the rules and laws as well as manipulating the flow of information

Even funnier is their threat to cancel mobile phone contracts of operators who dare to advertise on GB News.

Journalists have traditionally taken the lead in defending free speech, a free press and above all free discourse. We now have the deeply unhealthy reality that corporate media employees are the leading activists demanding greater censorship and the destruction of free thought.

Thus do we have the unimaginably warped dynamic in which U.S. journalists are not the defenders of free speech values but the primary crusaders to destroy them. They do it in part for power: to ensure nobody but they can control the flow of information. They do it partly for ideology and out of hubris: the belief that their worldview is so undeniably right that all dissent is inherently dangerous "disinformation." And they do it from petty vindictiveness: they clearly get aroused to find otherwise elusive purpose by destroying people's reputations and lives, no matter how powerless. Whatever the motive, corporate media employees whose company titles is "journalist" are the primary activists against a free and open internet and the core values of free thought.

They have insufficient talent or skill, and even less desire, to take on real power centers, the military industrial complex, the CIA and FBI, the clandestine security state, Wall Street, Silicon Valley monopolies, the corrupted and lying corporate media outlets they serve. So setting on such a penny-ante, trivial bullshit, fact-checking, hall monitoring, speech policing, all in the most anti-intellectual, pseudo-fascistic and primitive ways, is all they have, is all they are, it is why they have so richly earned the contempt and distrust in which the public holds them.

Do these people have any shame?

Thousands of people crowded the streets of Tampa, Florida, after the Buccaneers beat the Kansas City Chiefs in the Super Bowl. Videos show many revelers not wearing masks and ignoring social distancing.

One man popped open a bottle of champagne in the middle of a Brooklyn block.

The news that President-elect Joe Biden had defeated President Trump sparked celebrations across New York City, the president's hometown.

Tom Brady represents everything the system despises.

He also serves as a mirror to Colin Kaepernick, a total failure propped up by millions in corporate Nike sponsorship money - a company that literally lobbies against legislation to ban slave labor.

Worse for different reasons

9/11 was someone breaking into your house and threatening you with a gun and shooting you in the leg.

It's just amazing.

Liberals on Twitter are absolutely addicted to Donald Trump.

I hated Trump too, and so I was relieved that he could stop occupying headspace once he was no longer President.

But for many, Trump gave them a sense of purpose. And they just can't let him go.

It's not 'anti-semitic' nor 'racist'.

If you think it is, you're low IQ or ideologically possessed.

The mob will not allow you to simply remain silent.

In September 1793, the loi des suspects was passed, listing the types of French people who should be considered possible enemies of the state. They included all citizens who 'by their conduct, their contacts, their words or their writings, have shown themselves to be partisans of tyranny' There were many specific categories, notably returning émigrés and their families, but the Paris Commune authorities came up with a neat generalization when they specified that they would be hunting down 'all those who, having done nothing against liberty, have done nothing for it, either' In other words, France had just invented the thought police.

Really makes you think.

According to a recent report commissioned by the Scottish government, obesity is responsible for 24% of deaths. Far more than the number of deaths with covid.

Given the precedent of the lockdown, isn't it now time to issue rationing cards to all those overweight or overweight?

Surely, this would be less of an infringement on the freedoms of the overweight than forcing them to stay indoors, parted from their partners and deserted streets in order to work, be prepared, educated, posted or open a textile [illegible] which fills. Moreover, it would be targeted, meaning that the economic effects on the nation would be relatively low.

While slightly tongue in cheek, this intervention would be ineffective, but it [illegible] the [illegible] lack of concern for the wellbeing of the overweight as if they are somehow sub-human matter. In this case, the rationing system would be used to deter other behaviours, namely the [illegible] intended.

Those of a more liberal bent might suggest that it is the right of the overweight to make their own choices about their bodies, or, what they think about the NHS. If we do have another winter crisis, the NHS could be pushed over the edge by the overweight.

Perhaps the overweight would offer a compromise for the lifesaving products of Government and their advisors. Maybe, in the end, they just need to be given something new to meddle in, a set of [illegible] to be theirs to ruin and degrade.

This is clearly just a joke. The punchline being a parody of an extreme reaction stemming from any fathers concern over anyone having a romantic interest in their daughters.

But in 2021 jokes are now factual statements and people think this man is literally threatening a child.

"Multiple reports from last month indicated that GOP senators approved of Donald Trump's impeachment trial as a way to effectively blackmail the president into not pardoning Julian Assange."

CNN politics 2020 Election Facts First Election 101

Trump is also not expected to pardon Edward Snowden or Julian Assange, whose roles in revealing US secrets infuriated official Washington

While he had once entertained the idea, Trump decided against it because he did not want to anger Senate Republicans who will soon determine whether he's convicted during his Senate trial. Multiple GOP lawmakers had sent messages through aides that they felt strongly about not granting clemency to Assange or Snowden

As he departs office, Trump has expressed real concern that Republicans could turn on him. A conviction in the Senate impeachment trial would limit his future political activities and strip him of some of the government perks of being an ex-president

Trump is less worried about being barred from running from office again, and more concerned with the optics of being convicted by the Senate, people familiar with the matter said

They know what they are saying is wrong, but if they were to show any empathy they would realize they are on the wrong side of the argument They care more about being right than having empathy
